O CANADA

With soul-stirring coastlines, snaggle-toothed mountains, and epic wildlife, it's no wonder that adjective-packed postcards have become one of Canada's greatest exports. Every province offers something unique, but British Columbia and the Canadian Rockies have emerged, in particular, as the holy grail of Canadian tourism.

Since 1990, the Rocky Mountaineer has carried guests high into the heart of the Canadian Rockies, past the ethereally coloured lakes and dense, lush landscapes to the lively, cosmopolitan cities and quaint rural villages that dot the Canadian landscape.

Nikon speeds on the train allow shutterbugs to capture memorable moments as storytellers regale you with historic facts and funky urban legends. Sweet and savoury dishes featuring fresh, local ingredients are served to satisfy the palate. And every night, you'll be shuttled off to your hotel, so ready for the next leg of your journey in the morning.

Rediscover yourself in luxury and elegance, the hallmark of the most romantic method of transportation in the world. On a scale of one to ten, open yourself to the possibility of a twelve.

THE DIFFERENCE IS IN THE DETAILS

A Chocolate Before Bed

I love chocolate. More importantly, my mother loves chocolate too. Whenever I find a reason to surprise her with chocolates, I do. I love the smile I get in return. That's a good trade.

Over the years, I've learned that sometimes the slightest gestures, or something that may seem pretty small, could mean so much to others. It's about being thoughtful and considerate, and that's how my mother raised her six kids.

I may not be your typical President & CEO in a corporate blue suit but, then again, maybe this is why Rocky Mountaineer is not your typical travel experience. We don't have a business philosophy at Rocky Mountaineer; instead, we have a mantra: We are Creators of Life Changing Experiences.

That's our promise. And this promise is on the desk of everyone who proudly works for Rocky Mountaineer.

We keep this promise by doing everything we can to make every Rocky Mountaineer journey epic for each of our guests. My measurement tools are simple: I talk to our guests on departures and arrivals; I join them

If there is something we can do to make that life changing experience more rewarding for our guests, we'll do it, no matter how small it may seem. "Pay attention to the details!" my mother would say. After all, she is my hero and mentor.

So after our guests complete their first day onboard the Rocky Mountaineer, with the excitement still in their eyes and lungs full of fresh mountain air, they may find, on their pillow in their hotel room, a little piece of chocolate waiting for them. It's a tiny gesture but if it creates the slightest smile from our guests, that's a good trade.

I look forward to seeing you onboard!

Sincerely,

Randy and his Mom, Rhoda.

ICONIC, COSMOPOLITAN AND QUAINT TO DESTINATIONS

NO MATTER WHICH DESTINATIONS YOU CHOOSE, EACH OFFERS INTRIGUING SIGHTSEEING AND ACTIVITIES—AND EVERY ONE IS UNIQUE IN ITS OWN WAY. The metropolises of Vancouver, Calgary and Seattle offer downtown nightlife and interesting city tours. Incredible scenic and historic tours show off even the smallest of our quaint Canadian towns of Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper and Whistler.

Banff, Alberta 🚳

Mineral hot springs, a legendary backdrop and a castle have made Banff a year-round tourist hotspot. As Canada's first UNESCO-protected park, Banff stands as a world template for conservation and offers visitors the quintessential Canadian experience—jaw-dropping views and plenty of wildlife!

Calgary, Alberta 🚳

Rolling green foothills and golden fields surround this oil-soaked prairie city. As the host of the 1988 Olympic Winter Games, Calgary is spearheading Canada's economic boom while keeping it real with cowboy culture and plenty of down-home hospitality.

Jasper, Alberta 🔕 🔕

Solitude and serenity are hallmarks of Jasper—an untrammelled ecosystem of moose, elk, caribou and bears. This outdoorsy haven offers plenty of adrenalin-charged activities among chiselled mountains, titanic icefields and delicate ecosystems.

Lake Louise, Alberta 🚳

The turquoise-tinged water of Lake Louise nestled amidst an amphitheatre of craggy mountains has precipitated enough clichés to drown a poet. Be wary of random lyrical outbursts and undying love pledges from total strangers.

Seattle, Washington, USA 🚳

A thriving port that has long served as a gateway to the North, Seattle stands as the largest city in the Pacific Northwest. Coffee is the black gold of this city, which makes up for its weather with an abundance of exciting attractions and cozy cafés.

Vancouver, British Columbia 🔕 🔕 🔕

Cosmopolitan Vancouver beckons with its eclectic fusion of culture and cuisine. Glass towers and generous green spaces have made Vancouver one of Canada's best loved and most famous cities. Enjoy spectacular views, waterfront dining and superb shopping in this grown-up wonderland.

Whistler, British Columbia 🚳 🚳

Named for the whistling marmots that populate the area, this world-renowned ski resort co-hosted the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games. Enjoy year-round adventure. Hiking, mountain biking, whitewater rafting, golfing and shopping all await visitors in this pedestrian-friendly alpine-inspired village.

Kamloops, British Columbia 🚳 🚳

Kamloops is home to over 85,000 people and is known as Canada's Tournament Capital, as it hosts over 100 sporting tournaments each year. The name Kamloops comes from the Secwepemc word T'kemlups meaning "the meeting of the rivers", as this is where the South Thompson and the North Thompson rivers join. A semi-arid ecosystem welcomes travellers to Kamloops—Canada's only desert region, with over 2,000 hours of sunshine each year. The vibrant downtown has a mix of unique shops, historic buildings, tree-lined streets, brick sidewalks and over 40 dining establishments.

Upon arrival, the Rocky Mountaineer is greeted by the Kamloops Mounted Patrol, an enthusiastic group of volunteers on horseback.

Kamloops is an overnight stopover on the First Passage to the West and Journey through the Clouds routes.

Quesnel, British Columbia 🔕

Dating back to the Cariboo Gold Rush of the 1850s and 1860s, Quesnel, a.k.a. Gold Pan City, is the beautiful central playground of the North Cariboo. With a population of over 10,000 people, Quesnel has over 18 public parks and only receives 36 centimetres of rainfall per year. Rich in history, with a treasure trove of heritage buildings and Canadian nostalgia, Quesnel is the perfect combination of rural charm and quiet city sophistication.

Quesnel is an overnight stopover on the Rainforest to Gold Rush route.

Rocky Mountaineer's most popular route!

History awaits! Retrace the steps of gritty explorers, but sidestep the saddle sores to travel in pure luxury. The First Passage to the West carries history buffs on a breathtaking route past pivotal spots in Canadian history, including the Spiral Tunnels as well as the celebrated Last Spike of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Rugged mountains and raging rivers showcase the grand, often terrifying power of nature and stand testimony to the marvels of engineering and the indomitable human will.

VANCOUVER to KAMLOOPS » After boarding at the Vancouver Station, guests will travel through the fertile fields of the Fraser Valley. Picturesque farmland gives way to the towering peaks of the Coast Mountains before the rumble of raging waters hails the arrival of Hell's Gate. Piney forests turn into the abstract beauty of dusty desert hills as guests pull in to spend the night at Kamloops—BC's gateway to the Interior.

glaciers and rail tunnels.
The journey climaxes with a dramatic climb through the engineering marvel of the

Rogers Pass, British Columbia » Journey through the Clouds

Rogers Pass,
known for its winter
snowfall (10 metres
per year), is in the heart of Glacier National Park, in the midst of mountains popular for ski
mountaineering, camping,
hiking and climbing.

VANCOUVER » KAMLOOPS » JASPER

Embark on a journey of other-worldly beauty as nature's wonders line up one after another. From the raging waters of Hell's Gate to the serenity of Mount Robson, which rises like an empress from the surrounding plain, shutterbugs can expect an acute case of trigger finger.

Big game animals dart elusively around Jasper National Park—a wondrous lesson of geography. And don't forget to capture abundant footage of the icy-blue glacier-fed lakes and weeping waterfalls.

VANCOUVER » KAMLOOPS » JASPER

Whitewater rapids meander through green valleys and bite at the shores on this majestic journey past fanning glaciers and sawtoothed peaks. For most visitors, this enigmatic landscape represents the quintessential Canadian experience—the ability to witness the boundless expanses of nature in its most awe-inspiring and rawest form.

VANCOUVER to KAMLOOPS » After boarding at the Vancouver Station, guests will travel through the fertile fields of the Fraser Valley. Picturesque farmland gives way to the towering peaks of the Coast Mountains before the rumble of raging waters hails the arrival of Hell's Gate. Piney forests turn into the abstract beauty of dusty desert hills as guests pull in to spend the night at Kamloops—BC's gateway to the Interior.

KAMLOOPS to JASPER » Continue the journey by following the lapping and leaping Thompson River along the vertiginous walls of the Fraser Canyon. Rolling hills morph into snowy peaks before Pyramid Falls tumbles out of its hanging valley and falls

92 metres into the North Thompson River below. Finally,
the glittering Albreda Icefields
and glorious Mount Robson
mark the entry into the World Heritage Site of Jasper.

"Best Life Changing Trip"

WHISTLER » QUESNEL » JASPER

Mystery and history intertwine on the last major track of coastal temperate rainforest as storytellers explore Canada's greatest pandemic—gold fever!

The Pacific rainforest is a vast and wild region of scattered islands, fabulous fjords and towering peaks. Ancient 100-metre cedars strain the sunlight as the wildlife watches warily from the shadows. This is a sacred place—home to the rare white Kermode or spirit bear. As the greenery changes and placid lakes give way to the desert-like terrain of gold country, listen carefully for the ghostly echoes of the prospectors who came to find their fortunes but often lost their lives.

Before arriving in Jasper, one of Canada's pre-eminent National Parks, watch for the 3,954-metre majesty of Mount Robson, which soars higher than any peak in the Rockies and stuns onlookers with its peerless form and grand beauty.

Travel through fertile river valleys lined with Sitka spruce and Pacific silver

FIR UP TO 1,500 YEARS OLD. These towering giants bear witness to an unchanging landscape reputedly guarded by ancient spirits. After leaving the lush expanses, meander through lonely hills before stopping overnight at Gold Pan City, more popularly known as Quesnel. Climb aboard the next morning and follow valleys cleaved by white water, pass sheer rock faces and alpine meadows, and gaze up at magnificent Mount Robson before arriving in Jasper.

WHISTLER to QUESNEL >> Depart from Whistler to the historic shorelines of Anderson and Seton Lakes, which allowed steamboats to open the interior of BC for colonization. Just beyond lies the semi-desert scrub of the Fraser Canyon and the Cariboo Plateau ranchlands. The day concludes as the train follows the Fraser River into Quesnel. QUESNEL to JASPER » Next morning, the journey continues east through the ethereal borders of Northern BC, where the mysterious influence of the First Nations people is felt more strongly than anywhere else. The Rocky Mountain Trench gives way to the mountains that rise steeply to the north and south. Visitors will have a chance to photograph Mount Robson, the summit of heights in BC at 3,954 metres, before arriving at the heritage town of Jasper.

environment of the regions where we operate.

Here are some of the ways we are keeping it green:

Plant a Tree and Save the Earth

...well, at least doing our part to save the beauty we see from our trains for generations to come. For the yearly anniversary of each of our employees, we plant a tree along our routes. We have planted over 4,000 trees since 2009.

In a bid to help sustain and protect the natural environment along our rail routes, we entered into a long-term financial partnership with the Pacific Salmon Foundation, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to rebuilding sustainable and naturally diverse salmon stocks. The unprecedented eight-year commitment, which began in 2007, is the equivalent of two salmon life cycles.

Starting Smart—Reducing Fuel Consumption, Exhaust Emissions and Noise Pollution

ZTR Smart Start technology has been installed in all Rocky Mountaineer's locomotives. This Canadian system automatically manages the shutdown and restart of the locomotive engines, significantly reducing fuel consumption, exhaust emissions and noise pollution.

Waste Reduction a Key Focus

We have implemented new policies and partnered with recycling operators in various communities along our rail routes. Three days a week when the train arrives into Vancouver, all leftover food is donated to the local Food Bank.

We recently eliminated plastic water bottles onboard the train. This single initiative has reduced the use of over 120,000 plastic bottles every season.
